1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Auditor-General of Ghana was first appointed a member of the United Nations Board of Auditors on 1 July 1976 for a three-year term of office. Since then three successive Auditors-General of Ghana served on the Board for a cumulative period of 24 years until June 2000, when the Supreme Audit Institution (SAI) of Ghana voluntarily stepped down. This long span of association with the UN system gave the Audit Service of Ghana ample opportunity to demonstrate its competence, capability and expertise which led to the unprecedented renewal of its mandate for eight consecutive terms.

It is our fervent hope to bring to bear on the WHO our experience acquired in the auditing of the UN Organisation including UNICEF, UNHCR and the Regional Economic Commissions.

Our approach to the audit and our final recommendations will no doubt meet the aspiration of the WHO as well as the expectations of other stakeholders.

In order to achieve this, we plan to use the core staff with past experience in the audit of UN system that can easily gain insight into the operations of the WHO. As part of our audit strategy, we will ensure high-level senior management involvement in the formulating of the audit plan as well as supervision in the field. The Auditor-General and a Deputy Auditor-General will personally lead in the planning execution of the audit.

Finally, Ghana Audit Service would be represented by the Auditor-General at biennium-end governing body meetings to address the concerns of both management and stakeholders.
2. GHANA AUDIT SERVICE

2.1 Mission Statement

The Ghana Audit Service exists to promote good governance in the areas of transparency, accountability and probity in the public financial management system of Ghana by auditing to recognised international auditing standards in the management of public resources.

We endeavour to accomplish this through the delivery of professional, excellent and cost effective independent audit services.

2.2 Historical Background

The Ghana Audit Service has been in existence since 1909 when the country was a British colony.

The independence of the Auditor-General has been enshrined in all constitutions of the country

The Fourth Republican Constitution of 1992, currently in use, guarantees that in the performance of his functions, the Auditor-General shall not be subject to the direction or control of any other person or authority.

2.3 Functions of the Auditor-General

Under the Constitution, the Auditor-General is required to audit and report on “all public offices, including the courts, central and local government administration, the universities and public institutions, any public corporation or other body or organisation established by any Act of Parliament.”
The Auditor-General carries out the functions and responsibilities entrusted to him with the assistance of some 1,300 staff including five deputies and 20 other management staff. To this end, apart from Headquarters, the Service has offices in all the ten regions and selected districts countrywide. Additionally, the audits of some parastatals are contracted to professional audit firms.

3. OUR CONTRIBUTION TO THE UNITED NATIONS

For 24 years beginning 1 July 1976 to 30 June 2000, the Ghana Audit Service served the United Nations family system as members of the United Nations Board of Auditors and the Panel of External Auditors of the UN, the Specialized Agencies and the International Atomic Energy Agency. During this period, we chaired on several occasions the UN Board of Auditors and held also for a number of years the position of Vice Chairman of the Panel.

As a member of the Board of Auditors, we were directly responsible for the audit of UN Headquarters, Peacekeeping Operations, UNICEF, GCO, UNHCR, UNIDO, UNRWA, UNJSPF, ECA, UNOG, WFP, UNCTAD/ITC, ECLA, UNITAR, ECWA among others.

At the Board of Auditors level, we introduced innovative dimensions into the audit processes and in appreciation of this the General Assembly successively elected us to continue serving on the Board for 21 more years following the expiry of the initial three year term. No other country has since the formation of the UN been given such an opportunity by the General Assembly to serve continuously for unbroken number of years as a member of the UN Board of Auditors.

Between 1992 and 1993 the Ghana Audit Service, together with the United Kingdom and the Philippines, reviewed the UN Board of Auditor’s Manual. For this review, Ghana was formally commended very highly by the then Executive Secretary of the UN Board of Auditors.

Underlying the success story was our commitment to assisting the UN and the Legislative Bodies to identify opportunities for cost savings and improved management of scarce resources to achieve corporate goals and objectives as well as enhancement to financial and accounting system to ensure comprehensive and transparent reporting.

Some of the key policies and structural reforms undertaken by the United Nations during our tenure on the Board were influenced by the findings and recommendations made as a result of our audit.

At the Panel level, we interacted in a consultative process with the Working Group of specialists drawn from the UN family system including the WHO which developed the United Nations System Accounting Standards. The 40th Regular Session of the Panel hosted by the Ghana National Audit Office in November 1999 was historic.

The Auditor-General of Ghana is a member of the INTOSAI Committee on Accounting Standards. Ghana SAI also serves on the Board of Editors of the “African Journal of Comprehensive Auditing” published by AFROSAI.

The World Health Organisation therefore stands to gain from the rich reservoir of experience which we have gathered in our audit of different UN bodies and our unique commitment, as part of our audit process, to identifying opportunities for better management of resources and improved accountability in audited organisations.
4. GHANA AUDIT SERVICE PROPOSAL

4.1 Methodology

The methodology we propose adopting for the audit is dictated by the primary objective of the audit that Ghana Audit Service (GAS) undertakes to offer. GAS understood from the WHO Terms of Reference for submission of proposals for the appointment of External Auditor that it is required to express:

i. An audit opinion on WHO biennial consolidated financial statements; and

ii. Audit opinion on the biennial financial statements of each of the entities within the WHO namely, UN Programme on HIV/AIDS, International Agency for Research on Cancer, Trust Fund for the Special Programme for Research and Training in Tropical Diseases, Onchocerciasis Control Programme in West Africa and the African Programme for Onchocerciasis Control.

GAS further understood that the audit shall be conducted in accordance with Generally Accepted Common Auditing Standards as well as WHO Audit Committee Terms of Reference.

4.2 Audit Planning

GAS methodology will be audit-risk based. This approach focuses on representations in the financial statements which by their nature or the way they are evolved are likely to be misstated either on account of error or irregularity.

To make possible attainment of this object and also afford constant and close liaison with WHO Headquarters, Regional offices as well as Country Representatives/Liaison Offices, GAS proposes positioning permanently during the tenure of its appointment as External Auditors of WHO, a Resident Director (RD) at WHO Headquarters, Geneva. The role of this RD will be to undertake pre-planning of all audits of the WHO, prepare/review audit programmes and also co-ordinate all audits carried out in entities under the WHO by GAS field teams. Essentially, the RD will gather and undertake initial evaluation of information collected, carry out preliminary evaluation of systems and controls on all WHO outfits as well as assess resource needs for the audits. From the RD’s evaluation and assessments, areas of operations and items in the financial statements perceived initially as audit – risks would be passed on to GAS field teams. The RD will also pay visits to selected field offices in the course of the audits.

The Auditor-General will have overall responsibility for the planning, execution, monitoring and reporting of the audit. He will personally report the outcome of the audit to the Health Assembly.

4.3 Fieldwork
GAS field teams on reaching their respective audit locations will review the thrust areas initially determined by the RD as audit-risks and then evolve audit programmes to probe these thrust areas as appropriate. Non-risk areas will also receive attention though the extent of the review of those areas would be determined by the significance of the item or representation involved. Audit programmes drawn by the audit teams will be designed as to attain the objectives spelt out for the audit. The audit programmes will comprise compliance and substantive procedures, the nature, extent and timing of these procedures being dependent on the audit evidence being sought. In pursuit of these procedures, close liaison will be forged with the WHO offices to facilitate the review.

4.4 Reporting
Under our methodology, conclusions arrived at after GAS reviews are initially communicated through Audit Observation Memoranda (AOM) to desk officers whose operations/activities were reviewed and copied to their respective Heads. The AOM tests the acceptability of GAS findings by auditees and gives the GAS the opportunity to reassess its audit evidence and conclusions in situations where new evidence is furnished by the auditees.

Where responses are provided by auditees, these responses will be evaluated and incorporated in the findings to Heads of WHO Regional Offices with supervisory role over the country Representative/Liaison Offices. Reports on audits conducted on WHO Regional Offices will follow the same fashion as described above for the Liaison Offices. At WHO Headquarters, all findings borne out of GAS reviews will also be issued initially as AOM and subsequently as draft management letter, management letter and finally, auditor’s report.

It is worth noting that the above mode of reporting was evolved by GAS during its 24 years participation in operations of the UN Board of Auditors. This reporting mode obviates possible misunderstanding and conflicts between GAS and auditees as auditees are constantly informed of all findings made on their operations and are given the opportunity to respond to the findings. Additionally, the reporting mode makes for timely improvement and rectification by the auditees of operational weaknesses and lapses found during an audit.

4.5 Our Services to WHO

Besides, regularity (i.e.: financial and compliance) audit, GAS also will undertake performance audits when requested by the Health Assembly or when found necessary by the RD, Geneva during the pre-planning stage of the audit.

Under regularity audit, procedures pursued by GAS will be primarily dictated by the audit objective – i.e. to express opinion on WHO financial statements. In offering the services, GAS as a member of International Organisation of Supreme Audit Institutions (INTOSAI), will seek guidance from INTOSAI Auditing Standards, International Standards on Auditing (ISAs) as promulgated by International Federation of Accountants (IFAC) and UN Common Auditing Standards.

As regards performance audit, the objective of our review will be to determine whether specified programmes/projects/activities pursued by WHO were undertaken with due regard for economy, efficiency and effectiveness. GAS pool of performance audit experts will deliver this service at least cost to WHO.

Computer audit has assumed immense importance lately because of entities dependence on computers for processing and storing not only financial data but operational data as well. GAS services in this area will in the main focus on software and hardware controls with particular emphasis on alternative controls which compensate for consolidated of incompatible functions. Thus organisational controls, personnel practices, standard operating procedures as well as systems development and documentation controls will be reviewed where GAS obligation to express audit opinion on WHO and its entities financial statements will necessitate that.

5. RESOURCES NEEDED FOR WHO AUDIT

5.1 Human Resource

By virtue of GAS long membership of the UN Board of Auditors, it has developed the capacity for audit of international agencies including the UN.

5.2 Key Personnel

From that pool of staff GAS envisages that a total of 28 personnel will be fielded on the audit. Among the 28 personnel will be 12 key staff whose profiles are attached. As stated already, the Auditor-General will be personally in charge of the audit, assisted by one Deputy Auditor-General.
5.3 Audit Time Budget
On the basis of our study of WHO set-up and operations worldwide, GAS projects that in total 95 audit – months (14,778 audit-hours) will be required to provide the audit services to WHO. This audit resource will be partly employed in execution of regularity audit, 65 audit-months (10,110 audit-hours) and performance and computer audits, 15 audit-months each (4,668 audit-hours).

5.4 Proposed Audit Fees
Based on existing DSA for member states of the UN, projected travelling costs, maintenance of proposed RD’s Office at Geneva as well as secretarial and other support costs, GAS proposed audit fees for each of the biennia 2004 – 2005 and 2006 – 2007 is US $875,000.

GAS will be willing to negotiate a revision of the above proposed fees.

5.5 Billing For Proposed Fees
GAS will bill WHO quarterly and upfront as it pursues the audit and the bill will be based on activities to be undertaken within the quarter.
