6. Primary Health Care

STATEMENT BY BRAZIL

Brazil is a longstanding champion of Primary Health Care.

A strong, sustainable, people-centered primary health care is essential for achieving UHC, reducing inequities in health and safeguarding public health and national security.

Brazil is revamping and reinforcing the budgetary allocation destined to PHC, based on capitation, pay-for-performance and incentives linked to family medical residency and use of electronic medical records, as well as health promotion, disease prevention and care for specific and vulnerable populations. For this purpose, Brazil in investing an additional half billion dollars for PHC actions.

This administrative reorganization provides conditions to focus on outcomes, to give greater access to more effective and equitable health services; to have a better health outcomes and greater efficiency, besides improving patient experience and safety.

Brazil thanks the Secretariat for the report and the operational framework for the Astana Declaration, with which Brazil aligns itself, especially with its core strategic levers.

We also appreciate Kazakhstan’s proposal. Brazil is ready to provide our contributions to build consensus on the draft.

Thank you.
