PLACE OF EIGHTH WORLD HEALTH ASSEMBLY

As requested by the Sixth World Health Assembly,¹ the Director-General has studied with the Government of Mexico the implications, including the financial aspects, which would result from the invitation of the Government of Mexico to hold the Eighth World Health Assembly in Mexico in 1955. The resulting study was submitted to the Executive Board² at its thirteenth session, together with a statement that the Government of Mexico stipulated that its invitation included the Executive Board session which normally follows the World Health Assembly.

After having examined the report of the Director-General, the Executive Board referred a draft resolution³ to the Seventh World Health Assembly.

Since the thirteenth session of the Executive Board there have been no additional developments.
