

Scale of assessments 2022–2023

Report by the Director-General

1. This report contains a draft resolution that outlines the proposed scale of assessments for the financial period 2022–2023.
2. The latest available United Nations scale of assessments was adopted in December 2018 for the period 2019–2021.¹ WHO has applied the United Nations scale of assessments for 2020–2021.² It is proposed that the present United Nations scale should be applied by WHO for the financial period 2022–2023, adjusted for differences in membership between WHO and the United Nations, in accordance with the past practice.
3. The United Nations scale is expected to be updated in December 2021. Should this occur, the Seventy-fifth World Health Assembly in 2022 may propose the application of this updated scale for 2023, the second year of the biennium 2022–2023.
4. At its thirty-third meeting in January 2021, the Programme, Budget and Administration Committee of the Executive Board considered a report by the Director-General on the scale of assessments 2022–2023, which contained a draft resolution containing two proposed scales based on the total number of Member States in the Organization at the time of the adoption of the draft resolution.³
5. The Committee recommended that the Executive Board at its 148th session in January 2021 defer consideration of the item on the scale of assessments 2022–2023, including the draft resolution, to the thirty-fourth meeting of the Committee in May 2021, as there would probably be certainty regarding the number of Member States subject to assessed contributions and which of the two proposed scales would be applicable.⁴ The Committee could then make a recommendation for adoption of a draft resolution by the Seventy-fourth World Health Assembly. At its 148th session, the Board concurred with the Committee's guidance.⁵
6. The Committee will therefore consider the present report at its thirty-fourth meeting and will make a recommendation to the Health Assembly for adoption of the draft resolution on the scale of assessments 2022–2023.
