Agenda 14 Global Strategy for Women's, Children's and Adolescent's Health

The Philippines affirms alignment with the goal to accelerate high-impact interventions that would achieve the SDGs on women and child health.

We recognize how the frameworks in the Global Strategy have contributed to our national initiatives – on quality antenatal and postnatal care, maternal nutrition, optimum intrapartum care for mother and newborn, assistance to skilled health professionals for facility-based deliveries, scaling-up coverage of critical health and nutrition interventions for the First 1000 Days of a child's life, and strengthening access of adolescents to quality reproductive health information and services.

We recommend utilizing available protocols and partnerships to address gaps and inequalities in access to care for women and children. Further, we suggest prioritizing the strengthening of the EINC protocol, focusing on the Care for Small Babies, and the updating of the IMCI strategy to further help reduce child deaths. We encourage the Secretariat to continue providing updated guidance and technical support in this pursuit.
