How do you rate this person's difficulty with concentration and remembering things?
(Please circle one answer for each.)

Christian is very forgetful and often loses his way around places that are not very familiar. He needs to be prompted about names of close relatives and loses important things such as keys and money, as he cannot recollect where they have been kept. He has to make notes to remind himself to do even very important tasks. None Mild Moderate Severe Extreme

Tom finds it difficult to concentrate on reading newspaper articles or watching television programs. He is forgetful and once a week or so he misplaces important things such as keys or money. He spends a considerable amount of time looking for them, but is able to find them eventually. None Mild Moderate Severe Extreme

Henriette can pay attention to the task at hand for periods of up to one hour, with occasional distractions and can quickly return to the task. She can remember names of people she meets often, their addresses, and important numbers, but occasionally has to remind herself of the names of distant relatives or acquaintances. None Mild Moderate Severe Extreme

Julian is easily distracted, and within 10 minutes of beginning a task his attention shifts to something else happening around him. He can remember important facts when he tries, but several times a week finds that he has to struggle to recollect what people have said or recent events. None Mild Moderate Severe Extreme

12. Next, please tell us how much emphasis should be given to each of these goals by also distributing 100 points. Remember, each goal can get any number of points, from 0 to 100, but the total MUST add up to 100.

How many of your 100 points should be given to each?

Improve the average level of health in the U.S. _____

Improve the equality of health and health care in the U.S. _____

Total = 100 points

13. Finally, here are two final goals. Please tell us how much emphasis each of these goals should get in the U.S. by distributing 100 points for them.

How many points would you give to each?

The average level of people's rights for dignity, confidentiality, and the right to choose their own health provider. _____

Equality among all in people's rights for dignity, confidentiality, and the right to choose their own health provider. _____

Total = 100 points

10. Listed below are three possible goals for health care in the United States. We want to know which of these goals you think is the most and least important. Please put a "1" in the box for the goal you think is "Most Important," a "2" in the box for the "Second Most Important," and a "3" for the "Least Important."

- Improve the health of everyone. This goal means:
 - $ All people live longer with less illness.
 - $ There is more equality in people's health, their illnesses, and how long they live.

- Improve how people are treated when they receive health care. This goal means:
 - $ Rights of the individual for dignity, autonomy, confidentiality, and clear communication are respected.
 - $ Basic amenities—adequate social support and people's choice of a health care provider.
 - $ All people are treated equally.

- Charge people what they can afford. This goal means:
 - $ Everyone pays a fair share of the costs of health care.
 - $ Healthy people share costs for the services for the ill.
 - $ Higher income people pay some of the health care costs for lower income people.

11. Suppose you could tell our nation's doctors, insurance companies, and the government how much emphasis should be placed on achieving these goals. It would be most helpful to us if you did this by distributing "100 points" according to the emphasis you would like to see placed on achieving each goal. The more emphasis you want on a goal, the more points it should be given. You can give any number of points, from 0 to 100, to each goal, but the total MUST add up to 100.

How many of your 100 points would you give to each?

Improve the health of everyone.

Improve how people are treated when they receive health care.

Charge people what they can afford.

Total = 100 points
